REPUBLICANS OF MAGOFFIN COUNTY ENDORSE GARDNER AND ARNETT.

To The Republican Voters Of The 36 Judicial District Of Kentucky.

We, the undersigned Republican voters of Magoffin County recognize the fact that our Republican Governor and Republican Legislature passed an act at its last session having for its object the elimination of partisan politics from judiciary of the State, in so far as it applies to Circuit Judges; and whereas the present Judge of our district, Hon. D. W. Gardner, has no opposition from his own party for that nomination, we respectfully ask the Republicans of the district to endorse Judge Gardner by giving him the Republican Nomination and thereby, carrying out the spirit and intent of the law.

And it appearing that Hon. Floyd Arnett, Democratic candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney, has no opposition for said nomination, we ask that he be given no opposition in November.

THE TRUTH ABOUT LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Frank Kennard, having announced at the 11th hour as a candidate, renders it impossible for me to make a personal canvass of the entire district, and I take this method of presenting to the voters of Morgan county some reasons why I should be re-elected to the important office of Circuit Judge.

When campaigns are on it is the usual custom of some professional tricksters and petit politicians to circulate slanderous propaganda for the purpose of reflecting upon the honor and integrity of the candidate whom they plan to defeat.

Now, I believe that my opponent is a good citizen and am convinced that he would not resort to any such tactics, yet, in his circular letter he does attempt in a very narrow and little way, to charge me with not having done my duty in the enforcement of the penal laws, and in his statement shows a very limited knowledge of what the law is in regard to the penalties for the violation of the law in regard to the sale of liquors. This statute to which I refer is the statement that the second conviction for the sale of whisky is a felony and punishable by confinement in the penitentiary for from one to three years. As Mr. Kennard helped to make this law (being in the Legislature at that time) he ought to have been able to understand it, even if he had had no training as a lawyer or a judge. Under this statute it is a felony if a person is convicted and then after he is convicted he he sells liquor and again convicted, and no indictment has been made in Morgan county under this statute since the passage of that law.

In behalf of myself I want to say that no Judge in any district in the State has made a harder fight for the suppression of crime against all violations of the law than I have. It is true that in the last twelve months and since the passage of the Volstead Act the liquor traffic has grown worse and there are places in my district where moonshining and bootlegging is rampant. But, as I submit to my opponent, it is equally true in every district in the State, and I would be glad to have a committee of the best citizens we could get to investigate the conditions in adjoining districts and if they did not report that this district was in the best condition of any in the mountains I would quit the race.

For the benefit of those who may not know I want to say that I have had summoned the best men I could as get to act as grand and petit jurors, and have appointed as foreman of the grand jury men of sterling character ask the voters to consult any or all of them as to whether I have used all the power of the court to give them a free hand to apprehend any and all who have violated the law, and on their verdict I am willing to rest my case.

Mr. Kennard ought to know that the matter does not rest entirely with the Circuit Judge, but with the jurors as well, and when he attempts to say that proper effort has not been made by me, he not only reflects upon me, but on the integrity of purpose of the jurors who have co-operated with me.

I give below the names of all the grand jurors who have served with me and will ask Mr. Kennard or any voter to go to them and ask whether or not I have done my duty. I call especial attention to the character of the men whom I have appointed foreman at each court. The following is the list:

March Term, 1916, Grand jury: L. Sherman, J. D. Fannin, James B. Hutchinson, H. H. Lacy, Lonnie P. Frey, John L. Fugett, Jr., C. C. Salyer, H. C. McKenzie, Joe C. Gevedon, John Roe and Robert Spence.

THE WHEAT AND THE CHAFF.

In the closing days of the campaign the men who are urging my defeat are resorting to means that are unfair in trying to accomplish that end.

Some are making a big ado about the state of the district in regard to the sale of liquor and are trying to make the people believe that I have not performed my duty in that regard as I should. Some are resorting to falsehood in order to accomplish their ends. I want to call the attention of the people to a few facts that will convince any right thinking person that these men are very "keerless with the truth" in their efforts to defeat me.

Every one is aware that the deluge of liquor selling is only of very recent date. It has only been within the last year that it has gotten seemingly beyond control of the officers. It burst like a storm upon the people all over the United States and it is taxing the best efforts of the various units of government, the nation, the State and the county, to counteract the outbreak of moonshining and bootlegging.

Every one who has attended the Circuit Courts of Morgan and the other two counties of the district will bear witness that I have been active and relentless in my efforts to stop the making and the sale of liquor, and it has been only in the past year that I have been able to induce men who knew of the violations of the liquor laws to furnish that evidence to the grand juries.

It is too well understood to argue that all prosecutions in the Circuit Court must begin with an indictment and until the indictment is made I am powerless. I have, however, been active in hunting out evidence and presenting it to the grand jury, and I have enlisted the aid of my personal friends in this, and the past few courts will convince the most sceptical that my work has borne fruit. There are 182 indictments that were made at last court on the docket ready for trial and will be tried in August. I have a mass of evidence for the next grand jury, and will be equally as active as in the last court.

The fellows who are telling that I have failed to rightly perform my duty are either ignorant of the real facts or are willing to tell untruths in order to injure me.

The records of the courts are the best evidence and they will bear me out in what I say.

I have had much better co-operation from the citizenship of the district in the past few months than ever before and with a continuation of that interest and co-operation I pledge you that I will do all in my power to put the curse of moonshining and bootlegging out of existence in this district.

I want to call your attention, in conclusion, to the fact that this judicial district is in far better shape, has far less liquor selling and far less crime than any district in the State, and that of itself, should be proof that I have tried to do my duty.

In supporting me you have the assurance that you will have a Commonwealth's Attorney who will do his best to suppress all kind of crime, and on the other hand you have only the word of my opponent. I know that men and women who are familiar with my record are supporting me in this race. If all the people in the district were acquainted with the real facts in the liquor business and knew under what disadvantages I have labored and could know how much I have really accomplished for law enforcement I would be satisfied. But I have the faith in the good citizenship of the district to cause me to believe that

OUR NEW YEAR.

Beginning with this issue the Courier enters upon its twelfth year. We have many subscribers on our list who have been regular subscribers to the paper since its first issue and whose loyalty to the paper is a source of satisfaction to the publishers. These readers love the paper and feel that it is a necessity in their households. These subscribers have seen the struggle and the steady growth of the paper from its infancy to the present. They have witnessed and had a part in the establishing of the paper upon a basis of a permanent business institution.

We are not going to make any promises of what we will do this year. The past year has been the best in the history of the Courier and we have added much in the way of equipment to the plant. We are not yet satisfied and will add to it from time to time as the business justifies. A bigger paper is the next goal toward which we are striving, and it looks as though we may reach that shortly. During the present campaign we have taxed the good will of our readers by giving to the advertisers the space ordinarily used for reading matter, but we feel that they have been indulgent with us and not complained.

We are beginning the twelfth year of the paper with a more optimistic feeling than we did the year previous. The business has grown and it promises to still continue to grow, and we feel that we will be able to add many features before we begin volume 13.

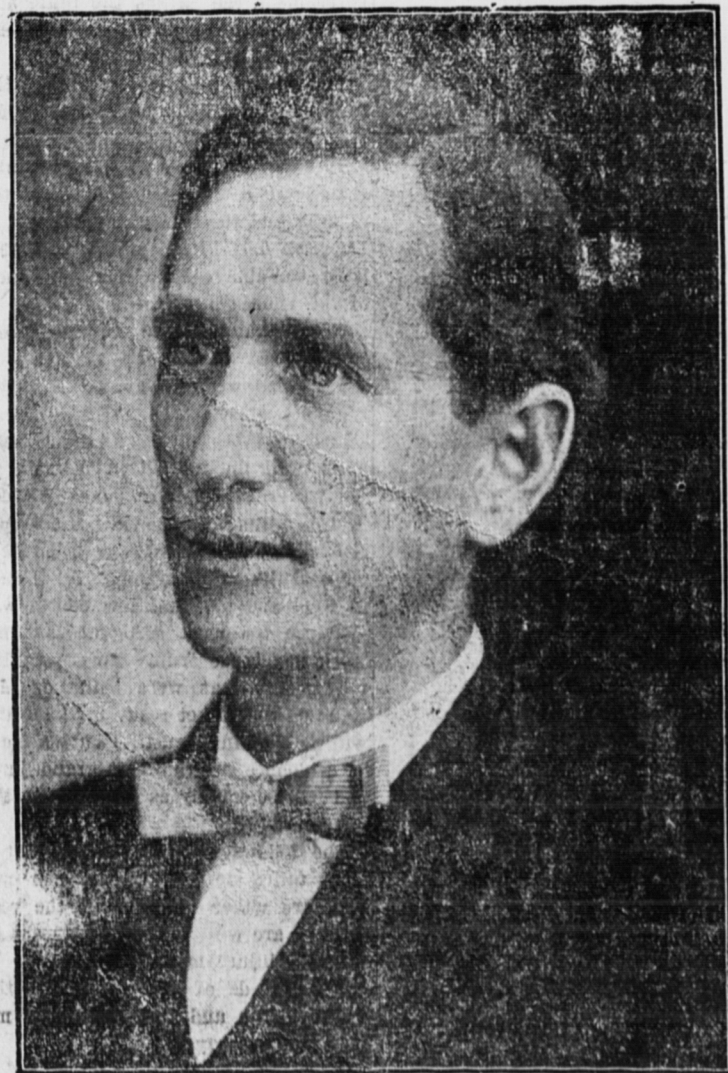

We are extremely grateful to those who have made the success of the paper possible and we hope to merit a continuance of their loyalty and support.

THE NEXT SERIAL STORY.

Soon after the primary election we will begin the publication of a new serial story, the "Clan Call." This is a story of the mountains of Tennessee, and was written by a mountaineer, and is full of action and pathos, and it does not do the mountaineer an injustice as most stories of the mountains do. It is clean, thrilling and virtuous. We will make further announcements of the story later. Pay up your subscription and get ready for the best story we have yet published.

THE COUNTY ROADS.

Now is the time for the road overseers to put the county roads in good condition so they will get solid for winter. If they are properly drained so that water cannot stand on them and near them when the winter rains come they will remain in a measure good all winter. Drainage is the essential thing in keeping the roads good.

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF THE THIRTY FOURTH SENATORIAL DISTRICT OF KENTUCKY:

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator from this the 34th Senatorial District of Kentucky. I have been a practicing attorney for the past twenty-three years, and feel that I know what legislation would be beneficial to the people of not only this section of the state, but the whole state. Breathitt county has not had a candidate for this office for more than twenty-five years. I earnestly solicit the vote and influence of the Democratic men and women of this district.

Some Mistakements Corrected.

It has been reported in various sections of the county by some interested parties that the taxes on property this year was $2.00 on the hundred. At the same time it has been urged against me that I was in a measure responsible for it because I was sheriff.

The originator of this mendacious report shows that he is willing to take advantage of the inability of the voters in the remote parts of the county to disprove his story, and is willing to misrepresent the facts, and in addition to charge me with things that I have nothing to do with.

In the first place the report is false. The taxes are this year just what they were last year—40 cents state tax, 40 county tax and the school tax 50, make a total of $1.30 on the one hundred dollars, just as it was last year. There is a county poll tax of $1.50 and a school poll tax of $1.00, making $2.50.

In the second place if the taxes were higher I would not have been responsible for it. The Legislature fixes the rate and I had nothing to do with it.

My only reason in making the above statement is that there is an attempt being made to prejudice the people against me and that such transparent, untenable and untrue statements are being made. But I have that confidence in the intelligence and integrity of the people to believe that they will resent such clumsy and mendacious stories. I do not believe that the people are ignorant as to believe such reports and that the attempt to deceive them is an insult to their intelligence.

I do not expect to win this race or the demerits of my opponent. I am asking the people to vote for me if they believe I am qualified for the office of county judge and will do my duty faithfully. I have no mind to throw at my opponent and not seeking to win in that way.

Yours respectfully,
CHAS. P. HENRY.

Justice of the Peace.

The importance of the office of Justice of the Peace is emphasized more and more since the change in the number of districts has been reduced.

Morgan County is a corporation variously estimated at from five to eight millions of dollars in wealth. The management of the affairs of that corporation should be given much thought by the citizens when they come to choose their Justices, for the fiscal court is the directorate of the county corporation. The management of the affairs of a big corporation are not given to men without great thought. The men elected should have business qualities that would enable them to manage the fiscal affairs in a way that will be approved by the people who bear the expenses.

I believe that I am well fitted to make you an efficient member of the fiscal court, and I promise you that if elected I will give close attention to the manner in which your money is expended. I am for improvements, the best that can be had with a careful expenditure of your money. But I believe that for every dollar the county pays out it should receive one hundred cents in return. I will carefully examine every claim that is offered and will vote against any that has a trace of graft or is for something that the county does not receive full benefit. I will favor the annual publication, as the law directs, of the financial condition of the county so that the people will know just how and for what their money is expended, and I will oppose any waste of the taxes.

I am for a vigorous enforcement of the law, and appeal to you for your votes on the grounds of good order and a careful management of the county's affairs.

Respectfully,
W. C. BLACK.

HARD ON THE POETS

"I'M SCHEDULED to recite 'Annabel Lee' at an entertainment tonight," confessed the retired merchant. "I've been repeating the poem to myself almost constantly for several days, and know every comma in it, but I'm afraid that when I stand up to recite, I'll have forgotten every word of it."

"I hope so," said the hotelkeeper. "Such a poem as 'Annabel Lee' deserves better treatment than you are qualified to give it. You have a voice like a guinea hen, and you telescope your words, and you don't know any more about poetry than a porcupine knows about Paradise. If you'd stand up and recite a few pages from a mail-order catalogue I have no doubt you'd put the proper feeling into it, and move your audience to tears, but it's a crime for a man like you to mangle a beautiful poem, full of sentiment and melody."

"There ought to be a law against that sort of thing. Some of the best poems in the country have been ruined by common or garden elocutionists. Nowadays people smile when you mention 'Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight.' It has been recited so much by people with cracked voices that it has become a joke. Yet if you examine the poem calmly and impartially you will find that it has a great deal of merit."

"In the schools the pupils are permitted to recite some of our best poems, and the poems aren't fit for anything after it. The school authorities should prohibit this sort of thing, and prepare a volume of cheap asbestos poetry that is fool proof, that can't be injured, no matter what you do to it. There is plenty of punk poetry in the world, and a collection of this stuff would serve the schoolboy elocutionists just as well as the high class poetry that is so easily spoiled."

"When I went to school, about a hundred years ago, there was a tall, freckled, gangling boy, who talked through his nose, with a sort of whine that sounded like filing a saw. There was to be a school entertainment, and this boy was down for a recitation. The teacher never asked him what he was going to recite, but gave him the right of way. Teachers continue to make the same mistake, even as we go to press. They should choose the poems which are to be butchered to make a Roman holiday and select something that won't rip, ravel or run down at the heel."

"This boy stood up before the school and droned through Gray's 'Elegy.' Now, that's one of the best rhymes ever composed. It was written by a journeyman poet who put in seven years at it, in the time when they had ten-hour days. He wanted to leave behind him a poem that would stand the severest tests of the government inspectors, and he did. In my opinion there is nothing better in any language. It is rather melancholy, but it has a sort of doggone soothing quality that is a balm to the bruised spirit of a landlord when he finds that the receipts of his hotel don't equal the expenses."

"Time and again, when discouraged and played out, I have started to read that poem, and as soon as I get fairly into it, I seem to see that blamed gangling schoolboy, in his high-water garments, and hear him droning through those verses, making a noise like a sawmill on a wet day. It's more than forty years since he made a violent assault upon the Elegy, but it seems like yesterday. It's the same way with Hamlet's 'Soliloquy.' Every time I hear or see that gem I think of a fat youth who recited it in our school, and then I burst into tears. 'There's no sense in such a business, and congress ought to do something, doggone it.'"

AND WHEN I heard,
MOANS AND groans,
I SAID "The wind,"
AND TRIED to sleep,
I HEARD rattlings,
AND SAID "Rats,"
AND ROLLED over,
THEN I heard steps,
AND IN the light,
OF A dying moon,
A WHITE spook rose,
I WASN'T scared—much,
BUT DIDN'T feel like,
STARTING ANYTHING,
BUT THEN I caught,
JUST A faint whiff,

OF A familiar,
AND DELICIOUS smell,
WHICH TIPPED me off,

BALMY PEACE

IN THE sylvan solitudes, said the wild man of the woods, "a man doesn't see any magazines and doesn't receive any bulletins from the health authorities, so he enjoys a peace that is never known in the busy haunts."
 "There a man simply has to subscribe for a lot of magazines, as a matter of self-defense. Canvassers are after him all the time. Some of the canvassers are lone widows with many children to support, and others are energetic young men who are trying to work their way through the veterinary college. They are deserving people, and you feel it a duty to help them along, so the first thing you know your mail box is jammed full of literature. Having paid for it, you feel that you ought to read it, and your life is ruined thereby."
 "When I was young, the magazines tried to entertain people. They had good stories and a poet's corner, and a department devoted to timely jokes, and another to household hints and domestic recipes. There was some sense in reading a magazine then, for it soothed and sustained you. But nowadays the magazine editors consider it their duty to harrow your soul and make your hair stand on end like quills upon the porcupine, or words to that effect. They are always viewing with alarm, and trying to convince you that you take your life in your hand every five minutes."
 "They have a lot of health specialists writing for them, and these health sharps point out that pretty near everything you eat and drink is a deadly poison. They didn't scare me to any great extent, for I am a most intrepid man, but they soon had my wife so rattled she didn't know whether she was going or coming."
 "I always was passionately fond of a good cup of coffee, and my wife could make the best coffee, you ever heard of. She went to work at it like a learned apothecary compounding a prescription. There was no guess work about it. She took an honest pride in it, and her coffee was a revelation to every consumer. I used to lie awake at night wishing it was breakfast time, so I could have my morning cup of coffee."
 "But one morning when I went to the table the coffee was missing. In its place there was a sickly beverage I had never seen before. I asked an explanation, and my wife said that no more coffee would be made in our house. 'The wonder is,' said she, 'that we still live and move and have our being, for coffee is a rank poison. If you read Dr. Zinkfoogle's article in the Junepopular Magazine, you will see that coffee contains a large percentage of tannin, which is so deadly that if you place a drop on the tongue of an alligator, it will roll over, dead.'"
 "I told her that I had no alligators on the premises, and consequently could not try the experiment, but I assured her that I didn't care anything about the poison. I wanted my coffee at regular hours. She said I'd have to keep on wanting. She thought too much of me to send me to an untimely grave. And, anyhow, she explained Dr. Zinkfoogle had told her to make a substitute for coffee that was perfectly wholesome. She had followed his instructions, and the result was before me. Perhaps it didn't taste as good as coffee, but it was wholesome. It would fill my veins with red corpuscles and restore hair to my bald head. It was made of marrowfat peas which had been carefully roasted in a hot oven."
 "In order to get a cup of coffee after that I had to make a sneak to the chop house, and the kind dished up there made me old before my time. My wife cut out all my favorite dishes because Dr. Zinkfoogle or some other magazine writer denounced them, and finally I was living on roasted peas coffee and boiled spinach, and I concluded that if I had to feed like the cows I'd live like them, so I came to the forest fastnesses."

"Marriage Breaker" Busy.
 One of the deplorable results of bolshevik misrule in Russia is the installing of a "breaker of marriages" in Petrograd, who is said to be granting more than 500 divorces a week. No investigation is necessary, the only requirement being the signature of the person desiring freedom from marriage.
A Helpful Hint.
 "A-r-r-r-r!" growled a hypercritical customer in the rapid fire restaurant. "This confounded piece of meat is so tough I can hardly eat it!"
 "Get it down on the floor where you can put your foot on it when you gnaw it," briskly returned Heloise, the waitress.—Kansas City Star.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"Another reduction has been made in the list price on all types of Ford cars and the Ford trucks to take effect immediately. The list prices, f. o. b. Detroit, are now as follows:

TOURING CAR	$415.00
RUNABOUT	370.00
COUPE	695.00
SEDAN	760.00
CHASSIS	345.00
TRUCK-CHASSIS	495.00
TRACTOR	625.00

"The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of low material costs which we are now getting the benefit of, and this fact together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months permitting maximum production, have made another reduction possible immediately.

"Ford business for April and May 1921 was greater by 56,633 cars and trucks than for the same two months in 1920; in fact, the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited, not by unfilled orders but by manufacturing facilities.

"During May we produced 101,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone—the biggest month in the history of our company—and our factories and assembly plants are now working on a 4,000 car daily schedule for June.

"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent big price reductions, and it is impossible, therefore, to make any further cut in the price of the tractor."

Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these new low prices? There is no reason now why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck, or Fordson tractor.

We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just phone us or drop us a card.

THE SURPRISE PARTY

"OLD Singlefoot is going to celebrate his golden wedding tomorrow," said the assessor; "we are planning to give him a surprise party, and would like you to go along."

"You couldn't drag me there with a team of government mules," replied the village patriarch. "About the meanest trick you can play a man is to spring a surprise party on him. Of course the majority of surprise parties are fakes. The victim has been informed in advance that he is going to be ambushed upon a certain date, and he makes his preparations accordingly. Then when the visitors arrive at his abode he pretends to be immensely astonished, and says he never dreamed of such a visitation; but the fact that he is wearing his Sunday shirt, and has his hair parted in the middle, gives the lie to all his protestations."

"There is no serious objection to a surprise party when the victim is warned in advance, although, as I have shown, it encourages skulduggery and hypocrisy, for no man can be thoroughly honest who pretends amazement over a visit he has been planning for."

"But the genuine surprise party is an outrage, and people who resort to it should be severely punished. There's nothing more humiliating to a self-respecting man than to have a whole neighborhood blow into his dwelling when he isn't looking for it."

"When I am at home I sacrifice everything to personal comfort. I take off my shoes and collar and necktie, and roll up my shirtsleeves and slip my suspenders down over my arms. I don't care how I look if I am feeling at ease. If I am expecting visitors, I go to my boudoir and fix myself up so I look like a bridegroom. My wife has theories, similar to mine, and doesn't believe in being arrayed in purple and fine linen all the time. But she wouldn't be seen looking slovenly for anything."

"Some months ago my wife casually remarked to a neighbor that my birthday would occur on the following Wednesday, and that neighbor, being a confirmed busybody, got busy and organized a surprise party. I never received the faintest hint of the scheduled catastrophe, and on the evening of my birthday I was lying on the floor of the sitting room, with about a hundred newspapers around me. My wife was wearing an old wrapper, and was popping corn on the kitchen stove. There was nobody else in the house, and we had no idea visitors would come, for it was a bad night."

"About eight o'clock, just when I was thinking of going to bed, there was a knock at the front door. My wife thought it was some boy on an errand so she went to the door with a storehook in one hand, and the corn popper in the other, and she gave a shriek of anguish when she saw the mass meeting on the front porch. The minute the door was open all those delegates pushed themselves in, smiling and giggling as though they were doing something mighty funny.

"Our house hadn't been in such disorder in twenty years. It looked as though a couple of amateur teams had been playing basketball in it. My wife and I began apologizing and explaining, as people will do under such conditions, although they know that nobody will believe what they say; the guests assured us that it was all right, but I could see them squinting around and making mental notes for future reference, and inside of a week the story was all over town that our house was a fright, and no respectable cow could live in it."

"That was the most miserable evening I ever spent, my friends, and I have never forgiven the people who took part in that uprising. And you may be sure I'll never treat another man as I was treated."

Lost Note Redeemed.

A soldier presented himself at the commonwealth treasury in Melbourne, Australia, and said, "I am a 20-pound note and want to be cashed." He stated that he had swallowed the note at Fleurbaix when he expected to be captured. He remembered the number, and the note in question turned out to be the only one missing from a particular issue which had been recalled.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

CONGRESS APPROPRIATES A QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS FOR HORSE BREEDING.

Money To Be Spent Under Supervision of Army Officers To Raise More Thoroughbred Horses for Cavalry Purposes.

OTHER GOVERNMENTS SPEND MUCH MORE.

Realizing the necessity of government interest, supervision and participation in breeding of thoroughbred horses, if the United States is to take her rightful position with the other countries of the world, the United States Congress has made an appropriation of a quarter of a million dollars to be expended in horse breeding. While this is a very small amount when compared with the millions of expenditure made by the governments of England, France, Italy and Spain in this work, it is being effectively used to enlarge the number of thoroughbred horses suitable for cavalry mounts.

In explaining the plans of the United States government for the breeding of more and better horses, Col. C. E. Hawkins, Quartermaster's Corps, United States Remount Service, says: "The world war brought out the fact that the National Defense demands, not only thousands upon thousands of horses and mules, but horses and mules of good breeding. Quality and breeding in the horse and mule is what gives them the staying power in danger and emergency, as well as for the less spectacular, but not less important, service in connection with our agricultural and commercial pursuits. What is true in the man is true in the beast. Courage in the soldier we call morale. In either case the quality is that of the will to stay when threatened by the common instinct to falter which means failure and defeat.

"The United States is the great horse and mule market of the world. Our allies depended upon us for the major supply of their war horses and mules. Thousands upon thousands were sold to the British, French, Italian, Belgian, Greek and other governments. The supply that could be sold was limited only by the ships available for their transportation abroad, and by the fact that rations were naturally of the first import.

"The first cry from abroad was for men, then for foodstuffs to feed their millions of soldiers and our own men; next came the demand for ammunition—the stuff that made the hellish fire that raked the enemy; his theatre of operations and his lines of communication. On the heels of the call for these necessities we had the one for the war horse and the war mule, in quantities never before approached.

"Automotive vehicles were used in great numbers. Yes, that is true, and it will be true in the future. But war and the horse and the mule continue to be inseparable. The great military migrations of the past—those, indeed, of civilization, itself—are so linked with the horse that his production and improvement may be said to have been co-existent with them. Motive power has not killed the horse and mule industry. Every member of the species has a valuable and important place to fill, motive power to the contrary notwithstanding. The latter, and the horses will go along together, each filling an important and useful sphere.

"The breeding of horses and mules, far from being abated, should be practiced in the spirit of the utmost optimism and confidence. True, the horse and mule market is uncertain. The demand, however, for every class will come again before the colts now bred mature. All our best informed horsemen, breeders and farmers recognize this fact and advise doubling our attention to the work of breeding.

"Meanwhile better horses and mules should be the aim of every breeder. We need better blood, more quality; hence, a more valuable animal. A well bred, sound animal, of good conformation and quality of any class, will always bring a high price and a handsome profit to the breeder. It is the scrub or ordinary animal that loses the breeder and farmer money. The scrub eats as much forage and takes as much care as the high class animal; and one has nothing at maturity. The progeny of high class, pure bred stallions, that have proved their courage, endurance and speed in competition, and selected farm mares, will bring the breeder an increasing profit as the time goes on.

"The Government is backing the production of these better horses and mules. This work is being accomplished by the War Department through the Remount Service, under the Quartermaster General of the U. S. Army.

"The last Congress appropriated a quarter of a million dollars to further these plans. The project also is being backed by an auxiliary society of the American Remount Association, composed of army officers, civilians, breeders, farmers, ranchmen, horsemen, owners of race horses, drivers and riders.

GWENDOLYN.

Batavia, O. July 4, 1921.

Lacking Vaalby Courier.

Dear Gentlemen: As the contest for Democratic party honors in Morgan County draws to a close I beg to express the hope that it leaves no fraternal wounds. Many worthy aspirants, no doubt will go down to defeat; but the lesson of our school days said "try again."

I have seen one of your distinguished Democrats, on two occasions withdraw himself from the arena for the sake of party harmony. I admire the loyalty he showed to his party; and am sure that opponents appreciate the motive that prompted his actions. I believe the Democrats of this county will remember him and "the bread that he cast upon the waters will not return unto him void."

When the result of the primary is known I hope they will all be willing to bury the tomahawk and extend to each other the right hand of fellowship and be ready to go out against the "Philistines."

Very truly,
P. M. Benton.

Mrs. B. R. Conley, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cooper, of Cannel, were shopping in town Monday.

Mrs. Bill Reed entertained for dinner Wednesday: Aunt Polly Ann Oakley celebrating her 76th birthday.

CROCKETT.

At this writing, Judge Cisco and Attorney Waugh are holding the regular term of Circuit Court in Elliot county and with the assistance of a company of State Guards to protect the court and aid the many deputy sheriffs who Judge Cisco called into service, they are combing Elliot pretty thoroughly and the catch of moonshiners and bootleggers is pretty big. When an indictment is made before the grand jury a warrant is at once issued and a squad of mounted guards with a sheriff, who acts as pilot, goes out and if the violators has not skipped, brings him in and he is tried and given the severest penalty.

This good work of Judge Cisco and Attorney Waugh in Elliot county should be a warning to moonshiners and bootleggers that the law is might; and can be enforced, and that it is time for them to quit their hellish trade and reform and become honorable citizens.

The coming primary election furnishes the people of the mountains of Kentucky a golden opportunity to strike this hideous monster such a blow that before it again dares to show itself the present generation of whiskey snobs will have passed on, and the coming generation will not have formed the habit, so it will be dead forever.

As all the candidates, pledge themselves against whiskey, it places the voters in a quandary as to whom to trust. Our Savior (as in all other conditions) has in Matthew the 7th chapter, 15 to 20 verses and Luke 6th chapter and 43rd and 44th verses, fully answered for us and gave us a guide by which to measure them.

No man who drinks or keeps company with those who do, could as a Judicial or Executive officer of a county or district, be fully trusted to conscientiously enforce the law. So, "By their fruits ye shall know them."

OLD PEDAGOGUE.

West Liberty, Ky.

July 14, 1921

To The Teachers, Morgan County.

We have begun another year of school and I am anxious that we make this the greatest year that the schools of our county have ever had.

First the Compulsory attendance law must be better enforced than it was last year. While our average attendance for the county was at least ten percent better last year there is room for better attendance. The truant officer last year had the whole county and some weeks some child would be reported in districts situated in very different portions of the county, so it was impossible for him to visit that week the parents reported and in many districts he did not visit at all while in others there was as high as five visits made. It is almost forty miles from one side of the county to the other and to depend on one man riding all over the county and looking after every truant child is hardly possible. This year we have made a little different arrangement which we hope will give better service. The law requires one or more attendance officers. This year we have succeeded in employing three for part time each week and giving them a certain number of schools in their community to check up. In this way it does not cost the county scarcely or very little more than one and gives much better service.

I am having the compulsory attendance law printed and distributed to teachers and trustees and the teachers are required to make their reports to the truant officers.

BERNARD E. WHITT,

County Superintendent

Plans are being made by County Agent Rankin in cooperation with the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture for a series of 4 poultry culling demonstrations which will be held this summer on different farms for the purpose of showing farmers and their wives of Morgan county how to tell the loafing hen from the heavy-laying one, according to an announcement which he made today.

According to poultry specialists, approximately one-third of the hens on Kentucky farms molt during July and August and stop laying until the following spring. Certain characteristics which these loafers show makes it easy to tell them from the heavy-laying hen. County Agent Rankin said:

Farmers from different communities will meet on a certain farm in that section where poultry specialists from the College of Agriculture will assist County Agent Rankin in giving the demonstration. Loafers and heavy-laying hens from the flock on the farm will be selected and the farmers and their wives shown the difference between the two. Circulars will also be distributed and the process of culling explained in detail so that the poultry owners can return to their own flocks and eliminate the hens that are not laying.

WHITEAKER CAN WIN.

To the Democrats of Morgan county:

Leading Democrats from all of the five counties of the 34th Senatorial district are of the opinion that Dr. J. D. Whiteaker is the only man who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator who can win at the November election. In view of the he should have no opposition in the primary. His opponent has never been successful in winning over the Republicans when he had the nomination, and it is not believed that he could do so this time.

The Democrats of Morgan County should vote in solid phalanx for Dr. Whiteaker, not so much that he needs it to win the nomination, but to show the Republicans that he has the party of his own county solidly behind him and to put a "pep" in the campaign that will come after the primary. It would be folly to nominate a man who would go into the light this fall with the millstone of predicted defeat hanging around his neck.

Because Dr. Whiteaker can win the nomination easily Morgan County Democrats should not get careless and fail to vote. Every candidate for county office should urge his friends to be sure to vote for Whiteaker.-Adv.

STILL A CANDIDATE.

Certain interested parties keep reporting over the county that I have withdrawn from the race for Jailer. This is done to injure me and to discourage my friends. I want my friends to deny this report whenever it is repeated, for I am still on the track with the best of chances to win. I will be on the ballot and a candidate till the last, and I want my friends to know that the report is a lie circulated to injure me in the race.

I am still a candidate and will be to the end, no matter what is said to the contrary.

Yours very truly,

DENNIE COTTLE.

ROBINSON A DEPUTY.

It has been reported over the county that J. W. Robinson, of Wrigley, was only running as a sham deputy. I want to say to the voters that this report is false, and that if I am elected Mr. Robinson will have his territory just the same as my other deputies, and will have a certain defined territory. I will ask that the friends of Mr. Robinson will not consider any report to the contrary.

I. C. FERGUSON.

(Editor's note—This notice and the announcement of L. O. Williams, of Mine Fork, was handed us by Mr. Ferguson some weeks ago, but in some way we overlooked them and they did not appear. The fault was wholly with the newspaper and not Mr. Ferguson.)

We, the undersigned citizens of Elliott County Kentucky state that each of us are personally acquainted with Merideth Crisp and have known him for thirty years or more.

He is an honest and upright man; a minister of the Gospel and a good man in every respect. He made the race on the Democratic ticket in Elliott County for the office of Assessor and had a majority over his opponent in every voting precinct in the county.

We can recommend him without and reservation whatever.

Respectfully,

Geo. Howard, County Judge

WILLIAMS—WELLS

A news item of interest to many friends of the bride in the wedding of Miss Maude Wells to Mr. Henry Williams. The wedding occurred in Lexington, Ohio, on Tuesday, July 12th.

The bride is the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wells, of West Liberty, and was a general favorite with the younger set here. She had been working in Middletown, for about two years and met her husband there.

Mr. Williams is a trusted employee of the American Rolling Mills at Middle town, and is said to be a young man of great ability and great promise.

The bride's friends here join the Courier in wishing the young couple a long life of happiness and prosperity.

Mrs. C. M. Summers, of Winchester, is visiting Mrs. W. W. McGuire this week.

H. E. Taylor, of Lexington, is visiting his brother-in-law, J. D. Lykins, for a few weeks.

Jno. B. Phipps, of Ashland, is in town for a few days this week, getting ready for court.

Mrs. Will Steel is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cooper, at Yocum, this week.

Mrs. Jas. Helvy (nee Minnie Pearl Dyer) is visiting her aunt, Mrs. H. T. Dyer, and other relatives here this week.
